

AGH BOARD MEMBER

STACEY O'SULLIVAN

M.A., B.A., Paramedic (Ret)

Stacey O'Sullivan is the newest member of the Atikokan General Hospital Board of Directors.

Stacey has recently retired from a career in Emergency Medical Services (EMS) in Alberta where she was a manager in the provincial EMS Communication Centre, which provides dispatch and ambulance deployment for more than 400,000 emergency medical calls per year. Prior to her leadership role in dispatch, she worked as an Advanced Care Paramedic where her experience in rural, urban and inter-facility transfer gave her a unique understanding of the vast differences in EMS care within these settings.

Originally from British Columbia, Stacey completed her bachelor's degree at the University of Waterloo in Ontario and her master's degree in leadership, with a health specialization, at Royal Roads University in Victoria BC.

Stacey is creative and enjoys art in many forms. The animals and landscape of Northwestern Ontario are often featured in her drawing and painting.
